Welcome

September 2021

Dear NJSBA Board of Directors Member:

Welcome to the Board of Directors of the New Jersey School Boards Association. As a Board of Directors member, you will be representing approximately 5,000 colleagues who serve on local school boards across New Jersey and help to determine the goals of your Association.

Since you are an experienced member of your own local board, you already have many of the skills and much of the knowledge necessary to participate effectively on the NJSBA Board of Directors. This handbook is intended to assist you in that service by providing information related to the workings of the Board of Directors and your responsibilities as a member of this important body.

The Handbook describes the history and mission of the Association, its governance and operational structure, and the functions of the Board including the relevant Governance and Operations policies and the NJSBA Bylaws.

You are also encouraged to visit the NJSBA website at www.njsba.org. The website includes a wealth of information on NJSBA resources, services, training and cost-saving programs. The home page has up-to-date education news, action alerts and highlights of upcoming county and Association meetings and programs.

I congratulate you on your willingness to take on this responsibility and your help in keeping the New Jersey School Boards Association the premier advocate for the educational interests of New Jersey's school children.

Sincerely,

Irene M. LeFebvre
President

Lawrence S. Feinsod, Ed.D.
Executive Director

History and Mission

HISTORY OF THE NEW JERSEY SCHOOL BOARDS ASSOCIATION

In April 1913, a letter circulated among New Jersey's local school boards notifying them of plans for a federation "composed of those who are close to voters and taxpayers of the state" and urging their participation.

"Such an organization could go before the legislature or appeal to the state department and be sure of a respectful hearing; it could not be ignored," the letter continued. "It will also unite the school boards of the state so that when the occasion arises, the taxpayers, by their chosen representatives, can act quickly, strike hard and strike with telling effect."

In 1914, the New Jersey Legislature authorized local boards of education to form a federation to "investigate such subjects relating to education in its various branches as it may think proper, and ... encourage and aid all movements for the improvement of the educational affairs of [New Jersey]."

So began the New Jersey Federation of District Boards of Education, later renamed the New Jersey School Boards Association.

Early Issues and Services Concerns of the early Federation were strikingly similar to those of the present NJSBA: taxpayers' interest in education because of the amount of money being spent; conflict with employee organizations, and concern about quality of instruction. In 1915, there was a move to increase from three to five years the length of service teachers would need to acquire tenure. And as early as 1916, the Federation was involved in a debate over the consolidation of schools.

In 1919, the Federation issued its first publication, The Present and Future Cost of School Buildings.

The Federation established a statistical and research service in 1921. A bill proposing tenure for superintendents and assistant superintendents was the subject of a special delegates' meeting in 1923.

School Funding How New Jersey funds public education was an issue even at the Federation's infancy. At the annual meeting in 1920, the railroad tax, the prime source of school revenue since 1906, was the main topic of discussion.

In 1927, the state's chief education officer asked the Federation to conduct a financial study on sources and distribution of school monies. The document is still used as a reference on early school finance and tax distribution.

In 1936, the Federation and the NJEA joined together to support increased state support for education. The two organizations continue to work together on the issue of adequate school finance and, over the years, have joined in coalitions to generate public support.

Governance/Polymaking The 1914 law establishing the Federation authorized a delegate assembly made up of members selected annually by district boards and the election of Federation officers “as may be necessary for the transaction of its business.” The delegates met annually and, among other business, were required to assess dues for payment by the member boards to cover the Federation’s expenses.

By the late 1930s, a movement began among the Federation members to secure a permanent office in Trenton and to increase dues to provide for a full-time executive to run its affairs in Trenton. The idea was rejected in 1939.

In 1949, the Federation’s president told the membership that the organization needed the resources to maintain quality education. He called for a change in the Bylaws to allow increased dues and acquisition of a full-time secretary. He also recommended changes in the process, in practice at the time, of having members of the Federation’s Executive Committee selected by the state senator of each legislative district.

By the end of the decade, the issue was resolved: Dues increased to a new high of $75 per year, and the federation employed a full-time secretary. In 1952, a new law removed the ceiling for Federation dues.

Expanding Services During the early 1950s, the Federation rented offices at 306 East State Street in Trenton, and the first issue of School Board Notes was published, improving communications between the Federation and its members. In 1953, the first statewide conference for local school board members — Workshop — took place in Atlantic City, and legislative bulletins were issued on a regular basis.

The Federation published a new book, What Every School Board Member Should Know, a forerunner to NJSBA’s existing publications in the areas of school law, labor relations, policy and school board practices.

In 1957, the Federation appointed its first Executive Secretary. The decade closed with the establishment of an orientation program for new board members, the format of which continues today and still serves as a model for other state school boards associations.

As Federation services grew, the organization found a need to purchase its own building and, in 1963, property at 407 West State Street was purchased to serve as its headquarters. By 1964, staff had grown to three professional staff members and five secretaries. Primary publications were School Board Notes and the Legislative Bulletin. A Code of Ethics was drawn up in the mid-1960s. At the end of the decade, there were 14 staff members of the Federation.

A New Era The 1970s brought expanded roles of state and federal government in public education, resulting in increasingly complex responsibilities for local boards of education and their members.

Now known as the New Jersey School Boards Association, the organization expanded its services to help school boards deal with new laws and regulations, participate in collective bargaining which was now mandatory, and have a voice before the Legislature and other government agencies.

In 1972, in response to the need for services at a local district level, NJSBA opened field service offices in the northern, central and southern parts of the state.

Building Renovation NJSBA moved into its current location, at 413 West State Street, in 1985 after occupying two separate buildings in the same neighborhood. The move united most of the staff into one facility. By 2005, however, the need for advanced technology to deliver online training as well as the condition of the facility, now 46-years-old, prompted discussion of a new or renovated facility.

In 2007, NJSBA closed three regional offices and field services staff was consolidated at the Trenton headquarters. Subsequently, the regional offices were sold, and the proceeds were earmarked for upgrading the Association's headquarters.

In October 2010, the Association completed a 14-month-long renovation of its headquarters. The redesign of office and meeting space, as well as exterior and infrastructure renovations, did not require borrowing. Building upgrades included solar panels and other energy-efficient features, reducing utility fees and operating costs. The renovation also enabled the Association to expand distance and web-based training.

Today's NJSBA consists of 5 division including the Executive Office. The staff provides direct services, training, representation and resources for boards of education across the state.

The Association's direction is guided by its Long Range Plan, which is reevaluated and rewritten every few years. This comprehensive plan for the growth and development sets specific objectives based on the expressed needs of local boards.

Future Direction The 21st Century saw the advent of many new initiatives at NJSBA in response to unprecedented changes in the education environment. As ambassadors of NJSBA to the County Associations and local school districts, it is hoped that Board of Director members will familiarize themselves with all the resources, training programs and discount services NJSBA has to offer its members. For a detailed list, visit the NJSBA website at www.njsba.org.

The NJSBA Bylaws require at least four regular meetings a year. (See Governance calendar on page 59). Special meetings may be called by the President or by request. (Bylaws, Article VI, Section 9 and reference Policy GO/8310-Special Meetings). The meetings are generally held at NJSBA headquarters on Friday evenings, preceded by dinner.

Three successive absences of a director and/or alternate may cause the seat to be declared vacant. (Bylaws, Article VI, Section 6)

HOW DO YOU RESPOND TO BOARD OF DIRECTORS MEETING NOTICES?

Approximately two weeks before each meeting, you will receive an electronic meeting notice. It is most important that you respond promptly. The notice is sent to both Board of Directors members and alternates. Alternates are encouraged to attend Board of Directors meetings, along with the member. ## HOW SHOULD YOU REPORT TO YOUR COUNTY OR SPECIAL BOARDS GROUP?

- Board of Directors members should give a summary report of the most recent Board of Directors meetings at every county/special group executive committee or general meeting. At every Board of Directors meeting, the President will summarize three items from the agenda that he would like you to take back to your county association/special group. Accounts of such reports should be included in county association/special group minutes sent to its member boards. You should be recognized in your county or in your special group as the liaison between it and the Association.

WHAT IS THE ROLE OF AN ALTERNATE?

- NJSBA Bylaws state “there shall be one alternate for each director, selected in the same manner as the director by the same authority. The alternate acts for the director in the absence of the director.” (See Article VI, Section 5).
- Alternates may speak to issues on the floor but may vote only in the absence of the member.
- The intent of permitting alternates to attend Board of Directors meetings along with the member is to ensure continuity by providing them with the opportunity to see the Board of Directors at work.

WHO ESTABLISHES COMMITTEES?

- Committees may be established by:
  - (1) an approved resolution of the Delegate Assembly (standing committees) and
  - (2) by the President (ad hoc committees)
- The President appoints committee members.

HOW IS THE NOMINATING COMMITTEE APPOINTED AND HOW DOES IT WORK?

- See Bylaws, Article X, Section 3.

CAN THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS CHANGE A COMMITTEE REPORT BEFORE IT GOES TO THE DELEGATE ASSEMBLY?

- If the committee was charged to present its final report to the Delegate Assembly, the report cannot be changed prior to being reported there. If the committee was charged to report to the Board of Directors and, upon receiving it the Board of Directors decides to revise it before adopting it or sending it on to the Delegate Assembly, the Board may change it. In this latter case, it is the Board of Directors' report.

WHO SPEAKS FOR THE ASSOCIATION?

- The President and Executive Director serve as official spokespersons for the NJSBA. In their absence, official designees shall be empowered to speak for the Association.
- Members of the Board of Directors and other members of local boards may be invited, from time to time, to deliver prepared statements on behalf of the Association.
- Staff members may be called upon to speak for the Association.
- The Governmental Relations Department shall be designated to arrange representation before official bodies.
- The Communications Department shall be authorized to arrange representation to the news media.
- Other departments of the Association may be asked by the Executive Director to handle technical questions, which relate to their specific areas of expertise.

WHAT RULES GOVERN BOARD OF DIRECTORS MEETINGS?

- An essential component of any group meeting is a body of rules, which regulate the group's action and allow for the orderly achievement of the group's objectives. Such rules of operation, or parliamentary procedure, ensure that decision making is orderly, clear, fair, and legal.
- It is the duty of each Board of Directors member to acquire sufficient familiarity with parliamentary procedure to enable him or her to maintain the dignity of the group during its activities.

WHAT ARE YOUR RELATIONSHIPS WITH STAFF?

- Visits to the Association office are encouraged. Indeed, the roles of the Board of Directors may make it necessary for them to visit Headquarters. Members of the Board of Directors should notify the Executive Office when visiting the Association.

- From time to time, members of the Board of Directors may be directly apprised of a problem by a staff member. In those instances, staff should be reminded of the appropriate chain of command for such matters.
- Members of the Board of Directors may find it necessary to work directly with staff in carrying out their duties and responsibilities. In such cases, members of the Board of Directors should be ever mindful of their role in policymaking, planning and appraisal, as distinguished from administration, which is the responsibility of the Executive Director. The President will speak with members who do not adhere to their roles.
- Requests for information or materials should be directed through the Executive Office if they apply to the member's role on the Board of Directors. If the request relates to issues of the member's local board, then the Field Service Representative or specific staff should be called.

DO WE HAVE SPECIAL RULES OF CONDUCT?

- Rules of conduct for Board of Directors members are eloquently expressed in the Association's Code of Ethics and the Board of Directors' Code of Conduct. Board of Directors members should familiarize themselves with these and conduct themselves in a manner consistent with them in all Association matters.
- The NJSBA has a standing Ethics Committee consisting of the immediate past president who shall serve as the chairperson, and four additional members appointed by the president. Among the duties of the Ethics Committee is to establish a code of conduct for officers and members of the Board of Directors. The Ethics Committee submits the code of conduct to the Board of Directors for approval and may periodically recommend that the Board of Directors adopt proposed amendments to the code. The Ethics Committee reviews complaints of misconduct brought against officers or members of the Board of Directors by a member of a local board of education. The Committee has the authority to determine whether any complaint warrants further investigation and, thereafter, undertake the investigation. Where violations of the code of conduct are found, the Ethics Committee may recommend to the Board of Directors disciplinary measure up to and including removal from NJSBA office.

HOW DO YOU FIND ASSOCIATION POLICIES ON ISSUES?

- NJSBA policies stem from actions of the Delegate Assembly and the Board of Directors. They are recorded in official form in the Association's two policy manuals, the Manual of Positions and Policies on Education and the Manual of Policies-Regulations-Bylaws for Governance and Operations, which can be found on NJSBA's website. The manual on governance and operations may be found at www.njsba.org/about/governance/governance-and-operations-manual/; the manual on positions and policies may be found at www.njsba.org/about/governance/delegate-assembly/manual-of-positions-and-policies-on-education/. The first, often called the “External Policy Manual” contains the Association’s views on education issues. The second, called the “Internal Policy Manual,” contains policies and regulations relating to the functioning of NJSBA itself.

- The manuals have detailed indexes. The index is designed to accommodate all policy areas, including many about which the Association has not yet taken a position. Thus, there is not necessarily a policy for each item listed in the indexes.
- Staff will be happy to provide any information you need on the location, origin or current status of any Association policy. Official archives on resolutions, committee reports and Delegate Assembly minutes are available for your inspection at any time.

On the following pages you will find the specific Governance and Operations policies and procedures related to your role and responsibilities as an NJSBA Board of Directors member. Also included for your reference are the NJSBA Bylaws.

“Income” for purposes of these rules shall be as defined by the Internal Revenue Service, except as otherwise provided in N.J.S.A. 18A:12-26(a)(1) and also include loans that are not from lending institutions or family members.

A. Identifying Candidates

1. NJSBA will post a committee interest survey on the Association website asking board members to indicate areas of general interest. The survey will also request information about their experience and background that caused them to check the particular areas.
2. When committees are established--either by Delegate Assembly or Board of Directors' action-- the President will ask the Executive Director for a suggested list of committee members.
3. Once candidates are identified as showing an interest in specific subjects, additional input will be sought from the following sources.
  - a. County Presidents
  - b. Board of Directors
  - c. Executive Committee members
  - d. Field Service Representatives
  - e. Other NJSBA staff

Once this procedure has been completed, these names will be forwarded to the President for a final decision. Final selection shall be made by the Association President based on the particular needs of the committee.

4. To ensure that the number of board members participating in committee activities is broad and continuously enlarging, board members currently serving on Association ad hoc committees would not be eligible for selection to a new committee, except as chairperson if their particular background or experience made them especially valuable. In addition, board members who have served on an Association ad hoc committee within the past two years will not be appointed to a new committee.

B. Contacting Identified Candidates to Determine Willingness to Serve

Any staff member calling a local board member to determine interest in serving will follow the protocol below:

1. Speak directly to the candidate stating that the Board Member Survey, completed by the member, indicated a desire to participate on Association committees dealing with a specific issue.
2. Indicate that as a staff member to the Association, he/she was instructed to contact the identified candidate to determine current status and willingness to commit the time necessary to serve on a specific committee.
3. Describe to the candidate the frequency of committee meetings during the year, the time and location of these meetings, the Association policies for reimbursement of expenses, and the expected outcome/charge of the committee.
4. Ask the board member to provide us with a decision within five days, as to whether he/she would like his/her name submitted for possible appointment.
5. Advise the candidate that all decisions regarding final selection to the committee are the privilege of the President.

6. Inform the candidate that a follow-up call will be made to him/her following the President's final selection.
  7. Stress that this is an inquiry, not a final selection notification. Formal notification will come in a written communication to each one.
  8. Ask the candidate if there are any circumstances which the President should know about regarding his/her ability to serve. This information, including the recommendation by the staff member, should be forwarded to the President for final determination and selection.
- C. Committee Meetings
1. All committee meetings are scheduled on an as needed basis with consideration of members' schedules. Meal arrangements are planned based on the attendance of each member. All members are contacted prior to the meeting date to confirm their attendance.
  2. Any member who cancels less than 48 hours prior to a meeting, causing the Association to incur out of pocket expenses, will be billed for those expenses unless the Executive Director or designee exempts the charge because of an emergency situation. Any member who is a no-show to a committee meeting will be billed the cost of the meal he/she ordered and will be billed for prearranged, guaranteed overnight accommodations.
- D. Length of Appointment
1. The Association has both standing and ad hoc committees to study and/or keep abreast of issues important to the membership, the education community and the public.
  2. Certain appointment terms to standing and/or ad hoc committees are delineated in the Bylaws Article X. In no instance shall an appointment be longer than specified in the Bylaws. The term shall commence from the month of the appointment, unless otherwise specified.
  3. The term of appointment for the School Finance Committee, Urban Boards Committee, Special Education Committee, and Standards and Assessment Committee shall be one year running from June 1 to May 31 of the following year.
  4. The term of each committee member shall be noted on the committee list.
- E. Committee Resource Persons
1. Upon recommendation and approval of NJSBA staff, a committee may invite resource persons to assist the committee in performing its role. Resource persons need not be members of boards of education, but must possess particular expertise/experience or insight in the subject area that is the focus of the committee's work.
  2. Generally, a committee will obtain assistance from a resource person through email and telephone correspondence. However, a committee may believe its best interests will be served by having the resource person(s) attend the meeting. In such a case, a resource person may be reimbursed by NJSBA for attendance-related costs only where the resource person is pre-authorized to attend by specific invitation. This invitation may occur only if there is a particular issue to be addressed at that meeting that calls upon the resource person's identified expertise.

The qualifications for alternates and substitutes shall be the same as for directors.

SECTION 6: EXCESSIVE ABSENCES In the event that a seat on the Board of Directors is not represented by the official representative or his or her alternate for three or more consecutive regularly-scheduled meetings of the board, and the Board of Directors determines that the member and alternate have been absent without good cause, the Board of Directors may, by a majority vote of those present and voting, declare that seat vacant and forthwith notify the appointing or electing authority of the vacancy, which shall be filled pursuant to Section 7 hereof.
